

SOMERVILLE IN ENGLAND

Former Barre Wrestler Gave
Good Account of Himself

AGAINST THOMAS ROSE

After Nearly Two Hours of Wrestling
the Contest Was Mutually Postponed for Forty-eight Hours.

The following article concerning a recent match of Bob Somerville, the wrestler, formerly of Barre, appears in The Empire, an English sporting paper published at Manchester, England, of the date of October 3.

"Ever since Hackenschmidt discarded the Graco-Roman in favor of catch-as-catch-can, the Lancashire style of wrestling has interested in popularity, and the contest between Tom Rose and Bob Somerville for 100 pounds at the Borough grounds, Oldham, yesterday attracted upwards of 5,000 spectators. Ideal weather conditions favored the battle royal, and the grim struggle for mastery frequently aroused the sporting blood of the onlookers. Both men had been subjected to a special preparation, Rose having been got into shape by J. W. Price at Southport, and Somerville, who was in perfect condition, finished his training under the supervision of W. Charnock at the Rose and Crown hotel, Oldham.

"Notwithstanding the fact that Rose was compelled to weigh in at 75c. 2lb., the betting ruled seven to four for the Lancastrian. It must be confessed, however, that Somerville was the stronger when the contest was stopped after an hour and fifty-two minutes of dog-dog wrestling. But considering that the English champion will not be compelled to go to sea when the match is resumed to-morrow afternoon, it is to be maintained that the last named will ultimately secure the emblem of superiority.

"After 'Burgie Ben's' midguts had given a clever exhibition of wrestling, the contestants got to grips, and there was no mistaking the seriousness of the men, Rose, who had the advantage in reach

THE CONSTIPATION EVIL

Is Responsible for Most Cases of Piles.

Constipation paralyzes the blood vessels of the lower bowel, and often causes piles. Women, and all other indoor workers, are the most frequent sufferers. But curing constipation alone won't cure piles. A special medicine is needed—internal treatment, to strengthen the debilitated and start pure blood circulating.

over Somerville, proved himself the stronger.

"Both men were very keen and some brilliant work was witnessed. After wrestling for 23 minutes, Somerville attacked vigorously but Rose extracted himself from a formidable half-nelson lock and well merited applause. The pair afterwards indulged in swinging leg holds in quick succession and some brilliant work was duly recognized. Subsequently Rose experienced some anxious moments when going through a long spell of the swing leg hold, and when 46 minutes had elapsed Somerville was hard at work with his opponent's head in chancery.

The pair continued to wrestle with great brilliancy and dash, but after a strenuous tussle of nearly two hours' duration, it was mutually agreed to postpone the contest for 48 hours. It was undoubtedly one of the most brilliant tussles in the annals of the sport. "Somerville, who was born in Glasgow, returns to America in company with C. E. O'Kelly, Joe Carroll and W. Charnock on October 17."

BOTH FIGHTERS SOME NERVOUS

Ketchel Is Perhaps the More Nervous of the Two, But He Is Gaining Confidence as the Hour Approaches.

San Francisco, Oct. 16.—Stanley Ketchel and Jack Johnson billed to meet to-morrow in the Coliseum arena, are two nervous men, and the perfectly trained body of each quivers with a subtle something that is neither fear nor faintness, yet resembles both. In all probability, Ketchel is the more nervous of the two, though a glance at him as he smashed his sparring partner and hurled the gymnasium apparatus around Miller's training quarters Thursday afternoon failed to show it.

At that, the negro champion is far from being as confident as he would have it appear. Should Ketchel be fortunate enough to land one of his terrific punches on the body or face of Lil' Artha' in an early round of the fight, it is confidently forecasted that the latter will hunt for cover. Indeed, he will forget his air of supremacy in an effort to dodge another—possibly a final—punch from the Michigan giant.

Should Ketchel happen to knock out Johnson, the pictures would easily be worth $500,000; should the battle go twenty rounds—especially twenty brisk,

COOK SAYS BARRILL LIES

Statements in Affidavits Declared a Lie

TO GIVE DETAILED DENIAL

Cook Declares Photographer Walter D.
Miller's Utterances Are "Unworthy of Notice"—Cook Appears in New York.

New York, Oct. 16.—New York became the storm center of the north pole controversy again yesterday when Dr. Frederick A. Cook and several others that have figured prominently in the discussion arrived here from different parts of the country.

The explorer came from Atlantic City to attend a public reception in the Aldermanic chamber and receive the "freedom of the city" from the board of aldermen.

The Arctic club of America also planned to give him a gold medal, which was not finished in time for presentation at the big banquet that welcomed Dr. Cook soon after his arrival from Copenhagen.

Barrill Was to Meet Cook.

The officers of the Arctic club were making every effort yesterday to find Edward Barrill, the guide, who affidavit denying that Dr. Cook ever sealed Mount McKinley was the sensation of Thursday's developments in the controversy.

Dr. Roswell O. Stehens, chairman of the executive committee of the Arctic club, said yesterday that three days ago Dr. Cook received a telegram from Barrill asking Cook to meet him Thursday. The explorer was unable to come at that time, but he sent his wife, who remained at the hotel here all day Thursday waiting in vain for the guide to appear.

The supporters of Cook point out that the aldermen did not see fit to change their plans after reading Barrill's affidavit.

On his arrival at the 23d street ferry, Dr. Cook was met by a large number of reporters, who piled him with questions in reference to Mr. Barrill's affidavit. The explorer, who evidently was greatly annoyed by the statements made in that document, did not depart from his usual attitude of reserve.

Barrill's Statement Untrue.

He made very brief replies to the questions put to him. The only definite answer was: "I will in a detailed reply to Barrill's affidavit being full reports that many of his declarations are absolutely untrue. In some cases, of course, the question will resolve itself into the word of one man against that of another, as neither can bring tangible evidence."

The affirmation made by Barrill that the photograph of himself holding the American flag in his hand was taken a long distance from the top of the mountain is not true. The picture shows the actual summit.

"I will not now discuss the matter further. I can, however, assure you that I will issue a detailed statement in reply. It may be given out to-day, but it may be also delayed for several days."

Questioned as to the statement issued by photographer Walter P. Miller, Dr. Cook said: "What Miller says is utterly valueless. He was never near Mount McKinley. His alleged corroborations of Barrill's affidavit is unworthy of notice."

To back up Barrill, the Globe publishes extracts and photographic reproductions of Barrill's diary. This book the guide says he kept from the time he first met Doctor Cook at North Yakima, Wash., in May, until Nov. 9, 1906. The most interesting portion of the exhibit is the pages covering the period from Sept. 9 to 18, where Barrill said he changed the entries at Doctor Cook's direction, to support the story that the explorer reached the top of the peak.

exciting rounds—they would be worth $250,000; and, even if Ketchel should lose to the champion in twelve or fifteen rounds but succeed in knocking him down or badly punishing him at any stage, they would easily be worth $150,000 to $200,000, it is estimated. The demand for the pictures has been so great that Crofton will take them East next Monday morning. Five reproductions will be made simultaneously at New York, Chicago, Philadelphia, Boston and Pittsburgh.

Betting on the big fight has shown a perceptible increase during the past two days, and it is probable that all the 10 to 4 money that is now in Tom Corbett's hands, awaiting the Ketchel short-enders, will be gobbled up before to-morrow afternoon. The growing sentiment in favor of Ketchel has not yet affected the odds, on account of the large commissions put in Corbett's hands before Johnson showed signs of weakening.

As for Ketchel, he appears to grow more confident with the approach of the battle. The middleweight titleholder has worked out a plan whereby he expects to down the negro.

GREAT PITCHING BY BROWN.

Chicago National League Twirler Allowed
White Sox a Single Hit.

Chicago, Oct. 16.—The Cubs took another hard fought game from the White Sox here yesterday, the final score being 1 to 0. Brown in the box for the Nationals, held the opponents to one hit, and the Comiskey men never had a chance at the money. White allowed but six hits throughout the contest, but these were enough to send the winning run across the plate in the third inning. The Cubs played errorless ball, while the White Sox made one misplay. The score:

Innings... 1 2 3 4 5 6 7 8 9—R H E
Chi. Amer... 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 0—1 1
Chi. Nat... 0 1 0 0 0 0 0 0—1 0

Foot Ball Notes.

The Norwich football team is very strong this season and has showed a good deal of class in the games played so far. It is the cadet's one ambition to trim the university of Vermont when they get together for their annual game which will be played probably at Inter-city park.

It is expected that a change will be made in Yale's lineup in its game with West Point today. Lilley will be tried at center, Andrus at tackle and Cooney at guard.

The Princeton squad spent yesterday in secret signal practice and the development of new plays.
